Wins Major P. A. Graduation Prize

Dr. Fuess Defends Liberal Arts Ideal

Joseph M. Kiernan, Jr., son of Navy Captain and Mrs. Kiernan of 35 School street, won one of Phillips academy's major prizes at its annual Commencement exercises held Friday morning at Cochran chapel. He was awarded the Improvement Prize, for the greatest general improvement in a member of the graduating class, by Dr. Claude M. Fuess, headmaster.

Kiernan, an outstanding scholar at the school, had also won the Rensselaer medal for excellence in mathematics and science, and the Dalton prize in chemistry, both awarded last Wednesday.

Diplomas were given out by Col. Fred T. Murphy of the board of trustees to some 200 seniors. An interesting feature was that two brothers led the Commencement procession, Thomas J. Hudner, Jr., senior class president, and James H. Hudner, president of the upper middle class. They are from Fall River.

Pupils Register For Religious Education

This week the pupils of the sixth and seventh grades of the Andover public schools are registering for the week-day school of religious education courses which will be given next Fall. Letters explaining the proposed courses were sent to the homes of all these children last week, to be signed by parents or guardians and returned to the school this week.

Protestant girls and boys will be taught by the various local clergymen, from the Bible, in classrooms located as conveniently as possible to the Junior high school. All the pupils registering for this instruction with parental endorsement, will be released from the public school for the seventh period of the day, on Tuesday afternoon of each week. Upon dismissal, they proceed immediately to the religious education center where they assemble in classes for the study of the Bible. There will be divisions by grades and in the two major fields of Old and New Testaments.

The organization of the school of religious education is under the supervision of the educational committee of the newly-formed An-

Civilian Defense Has Busy Weekend

Few On Duty During Daylight Test Monday, But Gas Demonstration Sunday Is Largely Attended

A brief civilian defense mobilization test early Monday evening was successfully met by local civilian defense personnel. Since the test occurred in daylight, little responsibility rested with the civilian populace, and auxiliary and regular police kept auto and pedestrian traffic well under control.

No wardens were on duty during the test, according to plans previously made by the committee. Since it was known beforehand that the test would occur sometime during the week in daylight hours, and 75 percent of the warden force is out of town during the day, it was decided not to have the A.R.P. personnel take part.

However, 53 policemen were on duty, 16 of them regular and reserve officers, 37 auxiliaries. They stopped traffic and directed the few people on the streets to shelter. The test came at such an unexpected hour that Police Chief George A. Dane, visiting his niece, a patient at the Lawrence general hospital, was forced to take shelter there during the test.

The committee on public safety had invented air raid incidents to telephone the Lawrence warning center as a communications test, and the report center staff was mobilized. All personnel who would normally be notified by telephone to assume their posts were warned that a test was on, though they were not actually called to duty.

Pynchard Alumni Banquet Draws Large Attendance

A large audience found a full evening of entertainment at the annual dinner and meeting of the Pynchard alumni association in the Central schools cafeteria Monday evening. More than 200 alumni attended, representing most of the classes from 1900 on.

Several members of classes graduating before then were also present. J. Augustus Remington was the only representative of the golden jubilee class. Charles H. Eames of that class, 1893, who has addressed Pynchard alumni gatherings many times, was unable to be present.

Others among the older graduates present were Oscar F. Timlin of the class of 1885, William A. Trow, 1886, and Miss C. Madeleine Hewes, 1896.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: Walter Pearson, '32, president; Miss Antoinette Thiras, '35, first vice-

Block Dance In Abbott Village

Affair Should Prove Popular Tomorrow

The large open square at the junction of Shawsheen and Red Spring roads with Essex street, in the heart of Abbott Village, will be the scene of a gay street fair tomorrow evening, when a block dance will be held there under the auspices of the Indian Ridge Community association.

All arrangements have been completed to make the affair a popular one. Recordings for dancing are to be provided by Russell Macleish, and a large and varied program of dances has been agreed on, including both the modern and old-time steps. There will be waltzes, polkas, square dancing—even a little jitterbugging!

Booths are being erected, and all kinds of refreshments—hot dogs, sandwiches, ice cream, soft drinks—will be sold.

In case of rain, the dance will be postponed until Saturday night.

Old Timers Day Draws Good Crowd

A large and good-humored crowd gathered on the playstead Sunday afternoon to witness the Fund Committee's second annual old-timers day. Motion pictures were taken by Henry L. Utley of the day's festivities, and will be added to the committee's movie library, which will be kept to show the Andover servicemen when they return from the wars.

The old-timers played a five-inning ball game of indecisive results. Taking part were:

Team A: John Scherner, p; Carpenter, c; Charlie Bowman, 1b; Ev Collins, 2b; Hal Wennik, ss; Chuck McCullom, 3b; Bob Leete, lf; Carl Holt, cf; Bill Harnedy, rf.

Team B: Ben Dimlich, p; Carpenter, c; Ed Erickson, 1b; Ken McKiniry, 2b; Bill McDonald, ss; Fred Riel, 3b; Eddie Lefebvre, lf; Yancy and Deyermund, cf; Fred Westcott, rf.

Novelty prizes were awarded to McCullom for the outstanding single play, Erickson for the first hit, McDonald for the first error, Leete, for the first two-base hit, McKiniry for long-distance throwing.

Closing Day Exercises At Shawsheen Kindergarten

The closing exercises of the Pike School were held Friday morning
in the Administration Building, Shawsheen. Prizes were awarded for scholastic standing in the various grades, and character awards for contribution to the life of the school were given. Tania and Jane Russell and Lee Howe of North Andover, and Alan Douglass of Shawsheen received war stamps
for their wild flower collections.
After the singing of service songs
by the school, the members of the graduating class, Katherine Bar-rell and George Redman of North Andover and Frank Reynolds of Andover were presented with diplomas by Mrs. Walter E. Pike, the school principal.

The custom of giving a final play, usually presented by the entire school for their parents and friends, had to be abandoned this year on account of gasoline rationing. Instead, a Field Day was held on Balmoral Field. The entire program was in charge of Maurice J. Curran, 3d, who conducted events.
There were foot races, three-legged races and a sack race for the older children with war stamps
as awards; and a peanut hunt,
and a potato race (without the potatoes!) for the primary classes. A soft ball game concluded the events
and another school year was over.

Mr. and Mrs. Clair Norton have returned to their home on Elm street after spending a week with their son in Springfield.

AT EASE!

Lekka Hilton, former Punchard and Town team star, is now somewhere in the Pacific with the Marines in the capacity of an aviation radio technician.

Warren Deyermund has just returned from Quantico, where he took an advanced course in troop instruction, and is now located at Dartmouth College. Warren has been a drill instructor almost since he entered the Marine Corps and has steadily gained recognition in the work. His Quantico course was directed by Dick Hanley, the famous Midwest football coach.

Capt. Albert C. Morris, former rector of Christ church and school committee member, has arrived in North Africa. It had previously been known that he had accompanied his regiment overseas, but the destination was not given. Mrs. Morris has returned to Andover and is making her home here.

Capt. Charlie Hodges, AAF, well-known businessman here before entering service, had a narrow escape last Friday. He was one of a crew on a medium bomber, based at the Myrtle Beach bombing range in South Carolina, which crashed on a routine flight at Bloomfield, Ky. Two were of the crew were killed, two injured. Charlie and another member of the crew escaped without a scratch.

Chuck Sanborn, with one of our bomber squadrons in England, writes that "it's sure great to read all those familiar names" on the servicemen's page. "It must be great to be able to drop home for a weekend as some of the fellows are doing." He mentions significantly that his station is "in easy striking distance of those we must pay back for getting us over here. The real celebration is yet to come, though, and will we howl!" He sends along a good slogan: "Just keep sending news this way and we'll try to keep making it for you to print."

Out at Fort Riley, Kansas, Albert Cole, Jr., son of Fire Lieut. and Mrs. Albert Cole of 4 Florence street, has been commissioned second lieutenant in the cavalry, after completion of a Squadron Leader Joseph Basso, R.C.A.F., on June 2 received a wire stating that "The Minister for Air and the Chief of the Air Staff, on behalf of themselves and all ranks of the Royal Canadian Air Force, congratulate you most heartily on the award of the Air Force Cross, made to you this day by His Majesty the King."

The award was made because of "efficient and outstanding" work "in all your undertakings, flying, engineering, organizing." Joe, a commercial pilot for years before entering the Canadian service, writes home that he regards the medal as "something I will always have, that money or wealth cannot buy."

three-month OCS course. Al makes his home in Andover at 30 Park street.

Arthur Ness, a Navy radioman in North Africa, writes that he's enjoying the Townsman sent there to George Dwyer. Arthur spends his off hours enjoying the cool Mediterranean breezes and trying to talk to the French and Arab inhabitants. He enjoyed his first ride on a burro the other day, and found it an unusual experience.

The Townsman was strictly off the beam last week in reporting Tom Fallon at Fort MacDowell, Calif. He's actually with a field artillery outfit somewhere in the southwest Pacific area.

WAAC Aux. Theresa Peterson, daughter of the Wilfred Peterson of Beacon street, has been promoted to auxiliary first-class. She is a cook with the WAAC contingent at Fort Wayne, Ind., previously serving at Daytona Beach. She worked at Pacific before going into service.

Frank O'Brien, former Phillips baseballer and son of the Frank O'Briens of 34 Phillips street, has been made a staff sergeant at Bolling Field, near Washington, D. C.

PFC Tom Eldred of the AAF is at the Fourth Service Command having just been transferred from Blythe, out in the desert, to Salinas, which has "the kind of weather Californians hate to admit exists in their state." Tom expects to come home within a month.

Pvt. Charlie Lovely is now with a chemical company at Camp Pickett, Va.

Congrats to Clarence May, recently made a corporal after only seven weeks of service. He's been at the Fourth Service Command signal school, in Athens, Georgia, since May 15.

Who did PFC Vin Mahoney run into a short while ago, at Fort Worth, Texas, but his brother Joe, a senior textile inspector, recently promoted to that grade, for the Jeffersonville (Ind.) Quartermaster depot. Since then, Joe has been transferred to West Point, Georgia, while Vin is at Palm Springs, California, in the AAF. It was nice meeting his brother, says Joe, since he hasn't been home in 2½ years.

George Brackett arrived at Camp Shelby, Miss., last Wednesday to find the weather plenty hot there.

Al Lynch and Bob MacMackin are going half and half on Al's Townsman down in San Marcos, Tex., Al writes.

The first Andover girl we know of to join the SPARS, Coast Guard Women's reserve, is Elizabeth Sprague of 57 Haverhill street. Betty left recently for indoctrination schooling at Palm Beach, Fla., and is now established at no less a place than the ultra-exclusive Hotel Biltmore there.

Cadet Dave Brown, 18-year-old son of the Rodney Browns of Bancroft road, has entered the Nashville (Tenn.) Army Air Center, the first step in a program leading to his winning wings and a commission. Dave is a P. A. grad, and also attended Holderness school.

Proctor "Randy" Ransden, son of the Max Ransdens of 28 Coolidge road, is in England now, and writes that "it's a beautiful country with lots of new scenery and friendly people to associate with." The letter was to the employees of the mending room at Shawsheen mill, where he worked last summer after finishing his school year at the University of Maine.

Pfc Joe O'Brien, former local policeman, is home on furlough from Fort Custer, Mich.

Congrats to Johnny Higgins, recently promoted to lieutenant (j.g.) in the Navy. He used to be in Newfoundland, but has since been sent to another place where "the weather and the date don't correspond."

Reggie Wallace, we hear, has been made a warrant officer, and is now overseas with the signal corps.

Hank Fettes, gunner's mate 2c, U.S.N., is home on a short leave, after which he will return to Washington to attend an advanced school in gunnery. Hank was one of Andover's outstanding athletes before the war, and was naturally invited by Hal Wennik of the town team to pitch for them against St. Anne's of Lawrence. Hank replied casually that he wouldn't be here then, and that he hadn't handled a ball "since he left Casablanca, where he played considerably."

Bob MacMackin of Shawsheen and San Marcos, Texas, is this week's leader in the Fund committee's "got-your-Christmas-package-late derby." His bundle came June 6, but was welcome none the less.

Abbott Village

Stan Poremba of Cuba street, who has been stationed at Newport, R. I., was home recently on a seven-day leave. Also home from Newport on leave is Bob McLaughlan of Shawsheen road.

George Milnes of Cuba street and Louisville, Ky., has been sent to California.

Billy Anderson of Red Spring road, stationed at Point Judith, R. I., had a chance to live at home for a week while attending radio school in Boston. He returned to his original base Monday a. m.

Johnny Gill of Cuba street is home on furlough from Florida. Bill Leahy of Red Spring road and Uncle Samuel's Navy, came home from Vermont for the weekend.

the train was so crowded coming

New York. It was not too unpleasant, of course, as there was a beautiful young lady, also riding be-had to grab her at times to keep her from falling off.... Say, where does a guy go to enlist?

Alumni Exercises

The alumni dinner was held a few hours after the Commencement exercises in the Case Memorial building. Dr. Fuess and Major Gen. Sherman Miles were the principal speakers.

Dr. Fuess gave an inspiring defense of the liberal arts during the course of his remarks, saying in part, "We have, of course, intensified and expanded our instruction
in mathematics and the sciences,
adding courses in communications,
navigation, pre-flight aeronautics
and other fields for which there has been a particular demand."

"We have placed increasing stress on body building as indispensable for men about to engage in war. But we still retain those subjects which may be regarded as the basis of our American culture, history, English, the foreign languages and the fine arts; and it might be claimed that independent schools like Andover are for the moment the last refuge of the liberal arts."

"The colleges have necessarily and inevitably been devoting themselves to the systematic training of youth for immediate action. The public schools, under powerful pressure, have turned rapidly and unreservedly to mechanical courses. The independent schools have watched with interest the progress of events, and now believe that their more cautious policies have been fully vindicated."

Gen. Miles' Address

Gen. Miles, who is commanding officer of the First Service Command, gave a triumphant defense of our present "democratic" army in explaining the workings of the selective service system.

He said that "this is a war of brains", and that the college students of the nation are providing the means of leadership, even though oftentimes a student is not as fortunate as his fellow soldier who had had less formal education
but more experience in handling men. Despite his high training, a college graduate without character is useless as a leader of men,
he declared.

All officers in the Army are being taken from the ranks, said
Gen. Miles, and only the best come from the ranks and emerge successfully at the end of the rigorous OCS period. "An officer has to be the best," he said, "if the lives of his men, on the battlefield, are to be confidently entrusted to him."

He continued, "Back in France,
in the last war, the present system of schooling was established and during these long years we have not been asleep... we have been gradually preparing for the day when we would need officers and officers and more officers to carry on the great work of freedom and the ultimate goal of victory."

Arthur McFarland, formerly residing in Cambridge, has moved to North Hampton, N. H.

POLICE BLOTTER

Officer James Lynch did a little fancy riding to turn in quite a commendable bit of work early Sunday morning. Two colored youths who had already escaped from a State Police cruiser crew were taken into custody by him after a lengthy chase on the Lowell road
and later turned over to Woburn police. Both had previous police records, and one was still on probation.

The colored men were Freeman
Bohannon, 17, of 20 Sylvan street,
Melrose, and Charles W. Jones, 8 Hubert street, Roxbury. The car belonged to Michael H. Winn, proprietor of the Winn Trucking company in Woburn, and had been stolen about 7:30 the previous morning from in front of a lunch room in that town.

An automobile belonging to Hugh McLay, and parked in front of his home at 32 High street, was ransacked sometime after 10:00
Tuesday night. A small jiffy camera, brand new, a pair of pigskin gloves, stockings and sunglasses were stolen from the glove compartment, a large bag containing soccer equipment and shoes from the trunk, and the 1943 registration stamp and an umbrella from the tonneau.

Henry W. Palm, 50, of 119
Blanchard street, was fined $100 on a charge of operating under the influence, and $5 for drunkenness
after a lengthy trial in Lawrence District court Monday. An additional charge of operating to endanger was filed.

The case resulted from a collision June 1 between Palm's car and one operated by Eugene Fluet of Lawrence. Though Sgt. David Nicoll and Officer Frank McBride were of the opinion that Palm had been drinking, officials of the company employing him testified that he works with a preparation causing symptoms like those of drunkenness and having a similar odor.

Miss Louise V. Higgins of 184
North Main street received her
A.B. degree, magna cum laude,
from Jackson college at the recent Tufts college commencement exercises. She had been elected to Phi Beta Kappa a few weeks
earlier, after having maintained a Dean's List rating for her four years at Jackson.

Co-op Movies At Library Tomorrow

the local Consumers Cooperative, in particular, to all interested people.

A film entitled "Hidden Hunger," dealing with the problem of wartime nutrition, will be shown. This will be of interest to all people who are interested in food values and preparation for maximum nutritive value and healthful qualities.

A second film, "Planning For A Saner World," will present a brief and fascinating view of co-ops in action. There will be an opportunity for questions and discussion.

The Board of Directors have an-

State-Wide Gas School

An all-day gas protection school for gas and decontamination agents from all over the state was held at Phillips academy Sunday. The school had originally been scheduled for much earlier in the year, but was put off pending the arrival of equipment.

Over 200 were present at the morning classes in George Washington hall. Some of those present worked in the Phillips laboratory, learning to identify and neutralize war gasses, while others heard a series of lectures in the meeting room at George Washington.

An interesting field program took place in the afternoon in the field at the northwest corner of Salem street and Highland road. Capt. Mydans and three enlisted men from the army's chemical warfare school at Amherst college came to Andover to acquaint the students with the smells and characteristics of war gasses.

Small holes were dug in the fields, and sealed tubes of liquid gas, with blasting caps attached, were buried in them. The tubes were exploded by a detonator, and the students took cautious whiffs of the vaporizing gasses.

The gasses were emitted in two separate series. During the first, the students studied the characteristics of the gasses previously identified for them, and in the second, they were called on to name the gasses and suggest neutralizing methods. Mustard, Lewisite, chlorpicrin and phosgene were among the gasses demonstrated.

Returning to the classroom, the gas officers, who represented practically all the larger centers of population in this state, were shown technical movies. Dr. A. William Reggio, OCD medical officer, spoke on first aid and self-aid for gas casualties.

He mentioned that no decontamination centers will be set up anywhere, despite elaborate plans previously made by the state committee, since gas casualties could not be brought there in time to be treated effectively.

Six Andover people were present at the day's session, and it is tentatively planned to have them pass on the information gathered to the wardens, who may relay it to the people on their beats. It was emphasized that the public, if properly educated in gas defense, is in no physical danger in the improbable event that a gas attack should occur.

Doherty, '25, statistical assistant; Miss May Elander, '31, assistant statistical secretary; John C. Moynihan, '36, treasurer; Miss Alice Bertram, '39, Miss Eleanor Doherty, '40, Miss Glenna Draper, '42, Miss Sally O'Riordan, '41, Miss Frances Jamieson, '38, Miss Jean Gilfoy, '43, Miss Theresa Nollet, '43, Miss Monica Coleman, '39, and Miss Evelyn Smith, '39, executive board. Edmund E. Hammond, '05, was re-elected to the board of trustees of the alumni funds for three years. The nominating committee was Sumner F. Davis, '24, Fred W. Gould, '24, and Miss May Elander, '27.

The meeting voted on motion of Lieut. (J.G.) Joseph B. Doherty, '27, that the secretary be instructed to draw up suitable resolutions on the death of Myron E. Gutterson, and that copies be sent to Mrs. Gutterson and spread upon the records of the meeting.

J. Everett Collins led community singing, with Mrs. Fred Smith as accompanist.

Principal Eugene V. Lovely, in opening his address to the alumni, indicated the large plaque made by the undergraduates in the manual training department, under Carl M. Gahan, which will be completed and displayed in a suitable spot in the school building.

He expressed his confidence in the sturdiness of the present generation, and expressed hope that the next one will appreciate the heroic work now being done by the men in uniform.

Supt. Edward I. Erickson also addressed the body, mentioning the fact that rationing and other war-time restrictions have made the people better acquainted with the schools and their staff. Another beneficial wartime trend, he said, was making the high school course more practical and giving students the opportunity to learn industry and self-reliance in part-time employment.

Mrs. Richard E. Cobb of the Lawrence office of Army Emergency Relief was the principal speaker of the evening, and gave an interesting word picture of her experiences at Pearl Harbor during the Japanese attack.

Walter Pearson, the incoming president, acted as master of ceremonies for the entertainment program following the business meeting. He introduced Cynthia Pash of the Junior high school for piano selections, songs by a quartet including J. Everett Collins, Sumner Davis, Miss Mina Manthorne and Miss Emma Stevens, with Miss Marion Abbott at the piano; songs by Connie Swenson, readings by Miss Mabel Marshall, twirling exhibition by Misses Jane Lindsay, Jacqueline Barry, Eunice McDonaid and Esther Hibbert of the Puncard Girls Band; and a saxophone duet by Misses Ruth Innes and Barbara Buckley.

Dancing followed in the gymnasium, with Harold Phinney in charge of the music.

Mrs. Viola Andrews (below). The mother of 7 children, Mrs. Andrews is filling a war-time job at Boston and Maine highway crossing gates.

Mrs. Anna Collins (left). Hers is one of the voices that now answers "Information" telephone calls at North Station.

FEMALES have always been important cogs in our Boston and Maine Railroad organization. But now, with 2,401 of our men already in the uniforms of the fighting services, the ladies are stepping into men's jobs in this most essential war industry — and doing it in a manner that should make all of their fellow employees very proud.

The six women pictured above "on the job" are typical of those who are taking over (and capably, too) for Boston and Maine men who've gone to war. Two of them — Betty Bowman, now on a regular "trick" at the busy North Station Concourse "Information" Desk, and Mrs. Lillian Bassett, a ticket seller at the North Station windows — are the first of their sex ever to fill these jobs in the 110 years history of the Boston and Maine.

We have women at drafting boards in our Engineering Department. Raising and lowering the gates at highway crossings. Manning the busy "Information" telephone lines at North Station. Cleaning B and M cars in the yards. And their daily tasks, like the tasks of the hundreds of women who for years have worked in our offices and stations, are all essential to "what makes the wheels go 'round'".

Many of these women are doing work they never dreamed of attempting before our country was attacked. The jobs they've tackled require the quick and able thinking which safe and efficient operation of a railroad demands. Hours are not always a 9-to-5 proposition, either; many of our feminine contingent work regular "tricks" which permit passenger and freight trains to move smoothly 24 hours every day.

Women are a most essential part of the railroad industry today — taking the same responsibilities as men. Without them the railroads could not keep on moving troops and weapons, and the necessities of the home-front where and when they are needed.

Don't Blame Him

Doctors are getting scarce, you know.

So is everything else, and that is why you have to show your patience so that the remaining doctors won't have too many patients.

Of course what we're talking about is businessmen. A good many of them are on the verge of going crazy anyway, thanks to government restrictions and rerestrictions. One day they'll receive an official order that under Limitation Order L-598x they can't purchase a certain item unless they scrap something similar, and a few weeks later, an amendment comes through saying that they can purchase this item without restriction, provided their volume of business in the preceding year was not over $20,000. One day they'll receive a notice saying that certain items can be bought with an A-10 priority, and others you can buy only after filing form PD-1A when you might get an AA-5 rating; then later they decide that really you can have an AA-2X and you don't have to file PD-1A; then a month later they decide that there's really no need of the "X" so you just use the AA-2 priority, but some items you can get only if you use them under certain further restrictions.

Sounds all mixed up, doesn't it? It is, and so are the businessmen. They don't know what's going to happen from one day to the next.

And that's where you come in. Help them out. Don't make their lot any harder by getting ugly when they can't supply things you want; if they could, they would. And if they can't get things fast enough for you, what good does it do to give them a verbal going-over? Things aren't what they were. Sources of supply are exhausted in many cases; in others labor is so scarce that it takes much more time than it used to to get certain commodities or services; in still others the government has just about cornered the market.

We had a salesman drop in on us the other day. He's married, and has a youngster. He's been making over $5,000 a year selling a type machine and matrices. You know what he's going to do now? He has enlisted as a metallurgist, and will be sent to Tunisia, Guadalcanal, etc., to analyze and appraise all the scrap metal that piled up in those campaigns. Then it will be shipped back. He figures that he has to do that or he'll have nothing to sell after the war. So you can see that businessmen are worrying now not about not having things to sell today but about not having things to sell after it's over.

Give the businessman a break. If he can't fulfill your requests as far as you want, or if he can't fulfill them at all, take it as your part in this struggle, and don't take it out on him. He doesn't get any pleasure out of not having things to sell, you know.

This Sober Town

A wholly unexpected brand of humor cropped out at the Punchard alumni association's annual dinner the other night. One of the program notes, referring to the menu offered, pointed out jocosely that the alumni were eating "a real chicken dinner"—none of these "extended" or "substitute" dishes.

The remark was not screamingly funny (this sober townsman happening to have authorized it). What makes it funny was the fact that the caterer, at the last minute, wasn't able to get any chickens, and changed the dish to beef-steak pie.

So, the rest of the blurb, describing the meat as the remains of the beastie who had been desecrating your victory garden a few days ago, brought out a few up-lifted eyebrows.

We also wish to thank the town fathers, or whoever is responsible, for letting the grass grow so long in the little triangular plot at the junction of North Main and High. During the haying season, we presume, it's going to be a busy place.

We have been considering asking the town fathers for permission to graze Champion Belinda II of Cloverbrook, our two-headed Guernsey cow, in the plot. Belinda would lend the town a fresh and bucolic atmosphere as only Belinda can.

What happens to a shy and modest chap who happens to be out during a gas attack by the enemy, according to instructions issued Sunday at the civilian defense gas protection school here, is painful and embarrassing.

A person who has been gassed while walking down Pine street, say, must run immediately to the porch of the nearest house. On the porch he must take off his shoes and outer clothing, bolt into the hall, up the stairs and into the bathroom, and give himself the most thorough soaping he has ever undergone since childhood.

All week we have been indulging in the most delightful speculation on the procedure, trying to imagine divers prominent citizens undressing on somebody's porch and inviting themselves to baths in strangers' houses. There are all sorts of intriguing incidents, not the least of which is explaining the circumstances to a jealous husband or a maiden aunt. And if the victim should find out afterwards that the gas he smelled was from a leaking main, or that there wasn't any gas at all, he must resign himself to a few years of vituperation and scorn.

DEATHS

Mrs. Lillian Manson Scott, 76, who will be remembered by many of the older people of Andover as a former local resident, died recently at her home at 1240 James avenue south, St. Petersburg, Fla. She was the widow of Dr. Cyrus Wallace Scott.

She had resided in St. Petersburg since leaving Andover 16 years ago. Dr. Scott died in that city eight years ago.

In St. Petersburg, Mrs. Scott had become well known through her activities with the St. Petersburg Roque club and the First Methodist church. In Andover, also, she had many friends in musical circles.

Survivors include a stepson, George Wallace Scott of Newman, Ga., and a sister, Miss Edith Manson of Westboro.

Miss Annie M. Bailey, 72, a resident of Lawrence for many years but a member of a well-known West Andover family, died Sunday evening at the McGowan Memorial hospital, Lawrence, after a long illness. Miss Bailey was born in West Andover, the youngest daughter of the late Warren and Sarah Bailey.

Several nieces and nephews survive.

The funeral was held in Lawrence yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. Newman Matthews officiating. Burial was in West Parish cemetery.

Miss Anna O'Loughlin, 65, a resident of Lowell most of her life but a native of Ireland, died last Thursday evening at a local convalescent home.

The funeral was held from the Burke funeral home Saturday morning, with a solemn high mass of requiem in St. Augustine's church. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery, Lowell.

A native of Nova Scotia but a resident here for nearly half a century, Eben Simmons of 37 Washington avenue died last Thursday night at the Lawrence General hospital after a brief illness.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Joseph Gillooly and Mrs. William Currie; a son, William Simmons; a sister, Mrs. Joseph Hammond, and a brother, Freeman Simmons, both residents of Pepperell.

The funeral was held from the late home Saturday morning with a high mass of requiem at 10:30 o'clock in St. Augustine's church. Burial was in Mount Pleasant cemetery, Arlington.

John Elliott, 78, of Boston, died suddenly in that city yesterday.

Surviving are a brother, Robert, of MacAdam, New Brunswick, and three sisters, Miss Sarah L. Elliott and Mrs. Daniel P. Webster of Andover and Mrs. David O. Whitman of Hingham.

The funeral will be held from the Lundgren funeral home Saturday afternoon, with services at 2 o'clock. Rev. John S. Moses will officiate. Burial will be in Spring Grove cemetery.

Raid Signals Sound Every Day Next Week

All local air raid signals will be sounded during the noon hour each day next week, from Monday to Saturday inclusive, as part of a state-wide practice inaugurated by the state committee on public safety.

The purpose of the alarm is to acquaint the public more thoroughly with the air raid warning signals, and the sirens and whistles will give the following signals daily next week: Blue at 12 noon, Red at 12:07, the second Blue at 12:14 and the White, or all clear at 12:21.

The test has been approved by the army, and will be for the audible signals only. There will be no stoppage of traffic and no mobilization. In effect, the alarm will be the same as that now given regularly Saturdays at noon.

Baptist Church Notes

"JUST WHAT THE DOCTOR ORDERED"

Willie's appetite is lagging,
Mary's teeth are rather poor,
Mother's worrying about their health
She has good reason, to be sure.

So Mother calls the doctor,
Who drops in right away,
"Better give him Vitamin B1,"
Is what she hears the doctor say.

Now every day the children
Eat 20th Century's Famous Bread,
Enriched with Vitamin B1
Which makes cheeks a rosy red.

Why not give it to your youngsters?
Then they can enjoy childhood fun,
'Twill make them strong and healthy
For it's chock full of Vitamin B1.
